Election Frauds.

Cincinnati, 25.—The democratic com-mittee of this county having recently issued an address charging extensive frauds in this city in the October election, a number of signers of the address were called before the grand jury, to-day, to give evidence. Not having the facta fully ready, the examination was post-round.

Profune Monosyllable.

New York, 20.—At the Warren court of inquiry, to-day, a. N. Martin, late of the United States volunteers, testified that he heard a conversation between General cheridan and General Warren, when the latter come, after being reitered of his command, and requested General Sheridan to recardidate his orders. General Sheridan answared with a professe m-tooylighte.

Cincinnati, 26.—At the close of business, to-day, on 'Change, members were called to order, and by reques', a latter secastly published in the Lousville Courier-Jearmal, purporting to be written by a Cincinnati merchant, and saying the Cincinnati merchants were hottle to the south and did not want the southern trade, was read. After some discussion, a resolution was adopted condemning in the strongest manner the letter just read, and providing for the apprintment of a committee of five to accertain its author.

Why the Greenbackers Sold Out to the Republicans.

Louisville, Ky, 26 - The CourierJournal publishes the following from Colonel Blaston Dunean: An otterly mendacious editorial from Lee Crandali, aleging that I tempted General Hancock with the suppositious greenback nomination absolves me from witholding the correspondence upon which Crandali marked 'confidential,' and from which I had been perfectly convinces that Dyer S. Lum's charges were true as to the purcha e of men in control of the greenback organizations. The letters from General Hancock to me, together with mine of October 28th, 1876, have already been published. The letter suggesting the greenback nomination to which I wrote recommending Hancock not to repay, came to me from Lee Crandall, secreary of the greenback executive committee, voluntarily. The first paragraph was: 'for sometime pust ludge Warwick Martin and myself have been talking ever a plan to elect General Hancock President of the United Sistes.' As Crandall and Martin are managers of the machine, Crandall supported Hancock indirectly for some months thereafter, and published several articles under my segnature. He got restive, however, and on February 1948, 1880, wrote, complaining that 'the friends of Hancock have not done anything for the Vew for bosoming him reduces my receipts. It is strange Hancock don't send a contribution to me on February 19th. 1850, wrote, complaining that "the friends of Hancock have not done anything for the View for booming thim reduces my receipts. It is strange Hancock don't send a contribution to me for the View. I am not able to continuate the fight in his behalf unless I receive some financial aid. Please write to Hancock and friends to give the View a financial to mose, which will place me in a position to give more space to their interests." A reply was instantly made by me that General Hancock was not seeking to buy the nomination nor influence, and that Crandail would have ta seek elsewhere for money. He caused booming Hancock at once. Pily for his powerly and compulsory prestitution has kept me silect, though it was long ago evident to me that the whole greenback machinery was permeated with corruption and purchasable elements, of which the honorable portion were in ignorance. THAT LETTER,

Which Garfield is Trying to Deny. New York, 26 -The Hero

New York, 26.—The Heroid says the public will accept Garfield's denial as final and conclusive upon the matter, but it will also he democratic managers to their responsibility for what now appears to be a very contemptible forgery. Public opinion will hold, and justly hold, that men like Hewitt, Speaker Randall and others owed it to their own character and to the common deconcies of life to be somewhat slower in bearing witness, and a good deal more expedit then they have been before allowing themselves, for partisan ends, to become partiers in gree franke upon the public. The forgery has been industriously used by democratic managers to arouse popular antipathy against the republican candidate, which it was well calculated to do. Will they now be equally isdust ious and resious in circulating Garfield's specific and positive domist! Will Hewitt retract his accusation garinest Garfield as publishy as he made at If not, what opinion do he and others of the democratic managers, who would like to be thought honerable men, think the decent part of the public will enter aim of them? There has been some wague lalk of fastening the letter upon Garfield, if he should have been brought for ward artier. The genumeness of the letter was credited unitrely upon the testimony of such-men as tleasit and Randall, that they had seen it and unhealtatingly recognized it as Garfield's hand. Against toat testimony of world and the deal.
